On the Feast of the Entrance of the Theotokos into the Temple, we remember that when the Virgin Mary was a little girl, her parents Joachim and Anna took her to live in the Temple in Jerusalem. They were an old, faithful, and barren couple who conceived miraculously and promised to offer their long-awaited child to God. She grew up in the Temple as she prepared to become the Living Temple of the Lord, when she agreed to become the Mother of our Lord, God, and Savior Jesus Christ...

Because the Theotokos accepted Christ into her life in this unique way, every human being may now become His living temple. By taking His humanity from her, Jesus Christ has united every dimension of our life with His divinity... He has made us His temple already through his Incarnation. But our calling during this season of the Nativity Fast, of Advent, is not merely to acknowledge that we are His temple and then live according to the conventional standards of our, or any other, society. Instead, it is to become more faithful and pure temples so that we will be prepared to welcome Him with integrity into our lives this Christmas. And there is no better way to do that than by following the example of the Theotokos...
